Risks

An Investor should consider all of the risks associated with opening a Margin Account and buying or selling Contracts For Difference (CFDs) from or to Nedbank Capital.

Market risk

CFDs are highly leveraged and carry a high level of risk. Additionally, any profit or loss accruing to the Investor will be adjusted to take into account any premium and other costs due to Nedbank Capital. An Investor should not invest in CFDs unless he is experienced in equity derivatives and understands and is comfortable with the risks of investing in CFDs. An Investor should also read the Terms and Conditions for Nedbank Capital's CFDs in their entirety, and obtain his own financial advice as to whether CFDs are an appropriate investment for him.

This document has been prepared by Nedbank Capital and does not take into account an Investor's personal objectives, financial situation or needs. Before buying or selling a CFD, an Investor should consider its appropriateness based on his personal circumstances. In deciding whether to open a Margin Account and engage in CFD trading, an Investor should consider the content of these Terms and Conditions.

An Investor should note that, in certain circumstances, a Reference Instrument Price may not match the prices on the underlying exchange.

Nedbank Capital or its associates, officers or employees may have interests in CFDs or Reference Instruments by acting in various roles and may receive fees, brokerage or commissions. Further, Nedbank Capital or its associates, officers or employees may buy or sell the Reference Instruments as principal or agent and may effect transactions that are not consistent with any recommendations above.

Investments in CFDs are subject to significant investment risk, as well as loss of income and capital invested. Neither Nedbank Capital nor any member of the Nedbank Group guarantees the performance of, return of capital from or any particular rate of return of a CFD or Margin Account. An Investor may lose more than the amount of funds he has in his Margin Account.

The distribution of the information in jurisdictions outside South Africa may be restricted by law and persons into whose possession the information comes should inform themselves about, and observe, any such restrictions. Any failure to comply with these restrictions may constitute a violation of the laws of an applicable jurisdiction.

Counterparty risk (obligations of Nedbank Capital)

A CFD is an instrument directly between an Investor and Nedbank Capital. As the value of a CFD depends on, among other things, the ability of Nedbank Capital to perform its obligations under these Terms and Conditions, failure by Nedbank Capital to comply with such obligations may result in the investment being worth less than it otherwise would have been. An Investor must make his own assessment of Nedbank Capital's ability to perform its obligations under the CFDs, pursuant to the terms set out in these Terms and Conditions.

Any cash in the Margin Account represents a deposit liability of Nedbank Capital.

Investment decisions

An Investor is responsible for the selection of the Reference Instrument relating to any CFD the Investor wishes to buy from or sell to Nedbank Capital. As such, the performance of any CFD investment will depend on investment decisions made by the Investor.

Leverage

CFDs offer exposure to a Reference Instrument with a relatively small cash collateral outlay. This can have the effect of magnifying potential gains or losses. An Investor should note that losses can exceed the amount of Margin laid out.

Involuntary Closeout

Nedbank Capital may buy or sell a CFD previously bought or sold by the Investor, and/or close the Margin Account, in a number of circumstances, including where an Investor has insufficient funds in his Margin Account to meet the Margin call or where Nedbank Capital is unable to borrow the Reference Instrument required to hedge its exposure to an Investor who sold a CFD to Nedbank Capital. An Investor should note that collateral requirements are calculated on a continuous basis and that it is his responsibility to ensure that amounts transferred into his Margin Account are cleared in sufficient time to meet collateral obligations.

Derivate Instruments: Disclaimer

CFDs are derivative instruments as defined in Section 1 of the Securities Services Act, 2004. Notwithstanding any provision, statement or communications published on the Website or set out in these Terms and Conditions, Nedbank Capital does not extend any credit to the Investor in terms hereof, and nothing in these Terms and Conditions or published on the Website shall be construed as creating a loan agreement or as the granting of credit by Nedbank Capital to the Investor. The provisions of the National Credit Act, 2005 do not apply to CFDs.

Nothing published on the Website or set out in these Terms and Conditions is intended, should be viewed, or construed, as advice or investment advice within the definition of those words as contained in the Security Services Act (No. 36 of 2000), the JSE Equity Rules or the Financial Advisory and Intermediary Services Act (No. 37 of 2002).

"The Investor acknowledges that it has read and appreciated the importance of the terms and clauses in bold font." Initial here:

The importance of reading these Terms and Conditions

There are clauses in these Terms and Conditions that require the Investors careful consideration.

For the ease of the Investor the terms which may limit the Investor's right or which illustrate a particular risk associated with the use of CFDs are in bold font.

2.4 Buying or selling a CFD

- (a) The Investor will place an Order to buy or sell a CFD, which is referenced to a specific Reference Instrument, on the Trading Application and, on Acceptance by Nedbank Capital, Nedbank Capital agrees to sell or buy the relevant CFD to or from the Investor.
- (b) Where the Investor buys a CFD from Nedbank Capital, the following payments will be payable:
 - (i) a premium in accordance with 4.1 below; and
 - (ii) a Mark-to-market Payment.
- (c) Where the Investor sells a CFD to Nedbank Capital, the following payments will be payable:
 - (i) a premium in accordance with 4.1 below; and
 - (ii) a Mark-to-market Payment.

2.5 Quotation of Reference Instrument Prices

- (a) Nedbank Capital will quote Reference Instrument Prices on the Trading Application.
- (b) The Investor acknowledges and agrees that:
 - (i) any quote provided by Nedbank Capital in accordance with paragraph (a) is indicative only; and
 - (ii) the agreement to buy or sell a CFD will be concluded only when the Investor's Order is Accepted by Nedbank Capital in accordance with these Terms and Conditions.

2.6 Placing Orders

- (a) Once the Investor has opened a Margin Account, the Investor may, by placing an Order with Nedbank Capital:
 - (i) offer to buy or sell a CFD from or to Nedbank Capital; or
 - (ii) Close Out the CFD mentioned in (i) above.
- (b) When placing an Order, the Investor is responsible for ensuring that there is sufficient Trading Capacity in his Margin Account to meet the Margin requirements for each new Order to buy or sell a CFD.
- (c) When placing the Order on the Trading Application, the Investor must set out the details required in the open Order entry window, and failure to do so will result in the Order not being Accepted.
- (d) If the Investor places an Order that is the opposite of an existing CFD Transaction of the Investor:
 - (i) the Order will be treated as a request to Close Out to the extent that the CFD Notional Value of the newly placed Order offsets the CFD Notional Value of the existing CFD Transaction; and

- (ii) to the extent that the CFD Notional Value of the newly placed Order exceeds the CFD Notional Value of the existing CFD Transaction, this will be treated as an Order for a new CFD with a CFD Notional Value equal to the amount of this excess.

- (e) If the Investor places a buy Order that is in excess of the current market offer price or if the Investor places a sell Order that is lower than the current market bid price, then the Trading Application will automatically adjust the price of the Order to the current market bid or offer price.

All the Orders placed on the Trading Application are limit Orders or trigger Orders, which may potentially become limit Orders. This means that the bid or offer price of an Order will normally be Accepted by Nedbank Capital when it is equal to the respective available bid or offer price of the underlying Reference Instrument.

The Investor may place a trigger Order, which may potentially become a limit Order. This means that the limit Order is activated only when the last traded price on the JSE (as received by the Trading Application from Reuters) is higher than or lower than a predetermined level. Again the Trading Application will automatically adjust the price of the limit Order as indicated above, which adjusted price will remain unchanged for the life of the limit Order.

- (f) Nothing in this 2.6 limits Nedbank Capital's ability to Accept, an Order placed by the Investor by means other than through the Trading Application.

2.7 Acceptance of an Order

- (a) Nedbank Capital may Accept an Order in whole or in part.
- (b) An Order will be binding on the Investor upon the Acceptance by Nedbank Capital of the Order.

2.8 Confirmations

- (a) If Nedbank Capital Accepts an Order, Nedbank Capital will subsequently make a Confirmation available to the Investor on the Trading Application under 'Account Information'.
- (b) There may be instances when Nedbank Capital is unable to make a Confirmation available but this will not affect the validity of the CFD the Investor buys or sells.
- (c) If there is a conflict between:
 - (i) the Transaction Documents; and
 - (ii) Nedbank Capital's records of the transaction concerning a CFD or an Order;

"The Investor acknowledges that it has read and appreciated the importance of the terms and clauses in bold font." Initial here:

the Transaction Documents will prevail in the absence of any other records that can resolve the conflict.

2.9 Errors

If within 5 (five) Business Days of Acceptance of an Order, Nedbank Capital determines that any terms relating to the pricing of the CFD are materially incorrect, then, without prejudice to any other rights of the parties:

- (a) Nedbank Capital may reverse the transaction;
- (b) Nedbank Capital will give notice to the Investor of the error and any reversal as soon as reasonably practicable;
- (c) each party must immediately refund any amounts paid by the other party in respect of the CFD;

and neither party will have any further obligation in respect of the CFD.

2.10 Cancellation of Orders

- (a) An Order can be cancelled at any time prior to it being Accepted by Nedbank Capital. Such a cancellation can be made by:
 - (i) the Investor on the Trading Application; or
 - (ii) Nedbank Capital by cancelling the Order on an instruction received from the Investor.
- (b) Where an Investor does not cancel an Order prior to Acceptance by Nedbank Capital, the CFD or Closeout resulting from the Acceptance will be valid and binding on the Investor and on Nedbank Capital under these Terms and Conditions.
- (c) The Investor agrees and acknowledges that any action by the Investor to modify or cancel an Order otherwise than in accordance with 2.10 (a) will be ineffective.

2.11 No transfer of legal or beneficial interest in the Reference Instruments

The Investor agrees and acknowledges that a CFD does not transfer the legal or beneficial interest in any Reference Instrument to or from the Investor and that the Investor has no right or obligation to acquire or deliver the Reference Instrument underlying a CFD.

2.12 The Reference Instruments

The Investor acknowledges and agrees that, while Nedbank Capital will determine the list of securities available as Reference Instruments for the purposes of these Terms and Conditions, the selection of the Reference Instruments underlying an Order or a CFD is the Investor's responsibility. The inclusion of a particular security as a Reference Instrument under these Terms and Conditions is not a representation, warranty or endorsement of the value or prospects of that Reference Instrument by Nedbank Capital and, as such, Nedbank Capital accepts no liability or responsibility for the performance of any Reference Instrument.

2.13 Term

- (a) The agreement incorporating these Terms and Conditions begins as of the Effective Date and continues unless terminated in accordance with these Terms and Conditions.
- (b) The Investor acknowledges that these Terms and Conditions and the Margin Account will continue until (i) both the Investor and Nedbank Capital have performed all their obligations under the CFDs, (ii) all CFDs between Nedbank Capital and the Investor have been Closed Out and (iii) the Margin Account is closed in accordance with these Terms and Conditions.

2.14 Corporate events

Where a Reference Instrument is affected by a corporate event (such as a bonus issue of shares), amendments are likely to be required to any CFD or Order associated with that Reference Instrument to preserve the economic equivalence of the rights and obligations of the parties immediately prior to such an event. These corporate events are also defined as Adjustment Events, and in these cases the Investor mandates Nedbank Capital to deal with the Investor's Orders or CFD Transactions in good faith in order to preserve the economic equivalence of the rights and obligations of the parties under the relevant CFD or Order. In exercising this mandate, Nedbank Capital may either (i) vary the terms of the relevant Order and/or CFD Transaction or (ii) cancel and/or Close Out the relevant Order and/or CFD Transaction upon notice to the Investor.

(a) Adjustment

If an Adjustment Event occurs in respect of a Reference Instrument that is the subject of a CFD or an Order, Nedbank Capital may determine the appropriate adjustment, if any, to be made to the terms of any affected CFD or Order as it reasonably considers appropriate to account for the diluting or concentrative effect of that event in order to preserve the economic equivalence of the rights and obligations of the parties under the relevant CFD or Order immediately prior to the event. Such adjustment by Nedbank Capital will take effect as at a date determined by Nedbank Capital and notification of the adjustment will be given by Nedbank Capital to the Investor as soon as reasonably practicable after the adjustment has been effected.

(b) Cancellation and/or Closeout

"The Investor acknowledges that it has read and appreciated the importance of the terms and clauses in bold font." Initial here:

Notwithstanding 2.10 above, Nedbank Capital may cancel and/or Close Out, the affected Order and/or CFD Transaction

2.15 Nedbank Capital's CFDs and the JSE

When an Investor places an Order in relation to a Reference Instrument, it is likely that Nedbank Capital will place a corresponding order on the JSE to buy or sell the security relating to that Reference Instrument to hedge Nedbank Capital's market risk. Nedbank Capital may Accept or decline an Order, and decide when to Accept the Order. Without limiting this discretion, it is likely that Nedbank Capital will elect not to Accept an Order in circumstances where its corresponding order on the JSE has not been filled.

(a) Market trading periods

Normal trading on the Trading Application occurs during the hours in which the JSE is open for trading on Business Days. Where the Investor places an Order outside these market hours, the Investor's Order will, in the absence of a specific agreement to the contrary, not be Accepted by Nedbank Capital until normal trading commences or Nedbank Capital is otherwise able to purchase or sell the corresponding security on the JSE.

(b) Closed periods, suspensions and delistings

A JSE-listed security may be in a closed period in circumstances that include the existence of price-sensitive information (including a takeover bid) relating to that security. Additionally, a security may be suspended or delisted in circumstances including failure by the Listed Entity to abide by the JSE listing requirements. Nedbank Capital reserves its rights to (a) hold the relevant positions and to request 100% margin on same or (b) decline to Accept the Investor's Order where the Reference Instrument is the subject of a closed period, a suspension or a delisting or (c) not quote a Reference Instrument Price for the relevant Reference Instrument on the Trading Application.

(c) Dividends

The ex dividend date for a JSE-listed security is the first day where the security is traded without the buyer being entitled to a previously declared dividend. Orders placed on the JSE in relation to a Reference Instrument that will trade on an ex dividend basis on the following Business Day will not be cancelled. It is the Investor's responsibility to manage Orders that Nedbank Capital has not Accepted yet.

2.16 Enquiries and complaints

Nedbank Capital has procedures in place properly to consider and deal with any enquiries or complaints from Investors in CFDs. Nedbank Capital will acknowledge receipt of a written complaint within 5 (five) Business Days and provide a substantive response within 21 (twenty-one) Business Days.

2.17 Cooling-off period

The Investor should note that there is no cooling-off period following Acceptance of the Investor's Application or any Acceptance related to a specific Order.

3 Margin

Amounts within the Margin Account will be designated as either Trading Capacity or Margin depending on the Investor's Orders, CFD Transactions and market movements.

In addition to holding sufficient Trading Capacity in the Margin Account to meet the Premium and other charges associated with the Investor's Margin Account as referred to above, the Investor is required to make Margin available in respect of each Order to buy or sell a CFD, as well as in respect of the Investor's existing CFD Transactions. Such Margin represents security held by Nedbank Capital for the Investor's Orders and CFD Transactions.

The Investor should ensure that he has sufficient Trading Capacity in his Margin Account to cover the Margin for the specific Order. If the Investor has sufficient Trading Capacity, the funds required as Margin for that Order will be designated as a Reserved Amount.

The Investor can only withdraw funds from his Margin Account where those funds are designated as Trading Capacity. The Investor will not be able to withdraw funds from his Margin Account where those funds are designated as Margin.

The Aggregate Margin Required and the Aggregate Reserved Amount for the Investor will fluctuate depending on market movements as well as the Investor's CFD Transactions and/or Orders placed by the Investor. It is the Investor's responsibility to monitor the amounts of Trading Capacity in his Margin Account, the Aggregate Reserved Amount and the Aggregate Margin Required, which will be reflected as the closing Margin on the Investor's CFD Statement, and make additional deposits where necessary. While Mark-to-market Payments will generally occur only at the end of each Business Day, calculations of the closing Margin and designation of funds between Trading Capacity and Margin are made continuously during each Business Day.

If, at any time, there are insufficient funds in the Investor's Margin Account to meet the Aggregate Reserved Amount and/or the Aggregate Margin Required obligations after allowing for Mark-to-market Payments based on prevailing intraday Reference Instrument Prices, Nedbank Capital may:

- cancel the Investor's Orders; and/or
- Close Out open CFD Transactions; and/or
- close or temporarily deactivate the Investor's Margin Account.

"The Investor acknowledges that it has read and appreciated the importance of the terms and clauses in bold font." Initial here:

Notwithstanding any contrary provisions herein, or the provisions of 4.4 below, Nedbank Capital shall not charge any interest, fees or charges where Nedbank Capital elects to hold the Investor's positions and/or CFD Transactions open in the absence of sufficient Margin.

In the event that Nedbank Capital has to take any action as a result of the insufficient funds in the Investor's account, Nedbank Capital will give the investor notice of such action as soon as it is practically possible.

The formula for determining the Margin Required in respect of any CFD and the formula for determining the Reserved Amount in respect of any Order are set out in the definitions of 'Margin Required' and 'Reserved Amount' in 1.1 above. The formula refers to the applicable Margin Rate. These Terms and Conditions do not specify Margin Rates. This is because the Margin Rate applicable to each Reference Instrument is determined by reference to a number of variable factors including the liquidity and volatility of the Reference Instrument. These rates may change for each Reference Instrument and will be published by Nedbank Capital from time to time on the Website and will be available on the Trading Application.

4 Costs of CFDs

4.1 Premium

An Investor will pay the Premium to invest in a CFD. The Premium will be payable per CFD and will be the aggregate of the following:

- (a) When buying or selling a CFD, including selling a CFD previously bought, the maximum percentage on entry of the CFD Transaction is 1,50% (one comma five percent), subject to a minimum of ZAR 30,00 (thirty South African rand). If applicable, an amount equal to the agreed Intermediary Fee will be added to the minimum premium. The maximum percentage will be determined by Nedbank Capital, from time to time, based on the underlying market conditions and will be published on the Website.
- (b) Where the Investor buys a CFD from Nedbank Capital, Overnight Long is charged on a daily basis.
- (c) Where the Investor sells a CFD to Nedbank Capital, Overnight Short is earned on a daily basis.
- (d) Where the Investor holds a long CFD position and a dividend becomes due, Nedbank Capital will pay the Premium (if any) to the Investor, equal to the value of any dividend amounts received on an underlying Reference Instrument.
- (e) Where the Investor holds a short CFD position and a dividend becomes due, the Investor will pay the Premium (if any) to Nedbank Capital, equal to the value of any dividend amounts received on an underlying Reference Instrument.

4.2 Intermediary Fee

Any Intermediary Fee, as amended from time to time, payable by Nedbank Capital with respect to the Investor's CFDs will be paid by Nedbank Capital to the Authorised Person as agreed on in the Transaction Documents.

4.3 Funding Spread and or Interest Spread

A Funding Spread and or Interest Spread, as amended from time to time, payable by Nedbank Capital with respect to the Investor's CFDs will be paid by Nedbank Capital to the Authorised Person as agreed on in the Transaction Documents.

4.4 Bank charges

Any bank charges incurred by Nedbank Capital as a result of cash being deposited with Nedbank Capital, or cash being deposited into any account of Nedbank Capital held at another bank, may be recovered from the Investor's Margin Account.

These charges will be in accordance with the bank charges ordinarily charged for these services on your Margin Account which are determined by Nedbank Capital, from time to time, and will be published on the main Nedbank website (www.nedbank.co.za) (or will be determined by any other bank at which the account is held).

5 Margin account

5.1 Opening a Margin Account

Upon acceptance by Nedbank Capital of the Investor's Application, Nedbank Capital will open a Margin Account in the Investor's name. Nedbank Capital will then require that the Initial Deposit Amount be deposited into the Margin Account via electronic transfer. Nedbank Capital must be in possession of cleared funds in order for Nedbank Capital to credit the Investor's Margin Account.

The Margin Account operates as a deposit account held with Nedbank Capital.

5.2 Moving funds into and out of the Margin Account

- (a) The Investor acknowledges and agrees that:
- (i) the Investor will not be entitled to withdraw any amount from the Margin Account other than funds designated as Trading Capacity or otherwise in accordance with these Terms and Conditions; and
 - (ii) notwithstanding any other provision of the Transaction Documents, the Investor will not be entitled to withdraw any moneys from the

Margin Account without the consent of Nedbank Capital unless and until the Investor has fully satisfied all outstanding amounts owing to Nedbank Capital

(iii) the Investor can request, electronically or via any other agreed means, that the Trading Capacity be transferred out of the Margin Account. In addition the Investor:

- (i) authorises Nedbank Capital to accept all transfer instructions that have not otherwise been cancelled by the Investor and notified to Nedbank Capital prior to Nedbank Capital acting on that transfer instruction;
- (ii) will ensure that there are sufficient funds in the Margin Account to meet all transfers;
- (iii) acknowledges that transfers may not be processed if there are insufficient funds;
- (iv) acknowledges that Nedbank Capital may set its own priority to the processing of transfers regardless of their nature or the order in which they are received;
- (v) acknowledges that there are circumstances in which a transfer may not be processed on the same day that such instruction is received by Nedbank Capital; and
- (vi) acknowledges that Nedbank Capital may establish further requirements as to the manner and times during which transfers must be submitted and other relevant information, provided that any changes will be advised to the Investor.

(b) Nedbank Capital will not be liable in respect of any errors or delays in relation to the receipt or processing of any transfer, or if the intended payee of any payment does not receive those funds that are attributable to Force Majeure .

- (i) Transfers will be processed unless notice in a form acceptable to Nedbank Capital is received by Nedbank Capital to cancel the transfer prior to processing. Upon receipt of any notice to cancel a transfer, Nedbank Capital will adopt a reasonable-endeavours approach to cancel the original transfer.
- (ii) Nedbank Capital has no duty or responsibility to make any enquiry as to whether a transfer has in fact been properly issued by the Investor or any Authorised Person.

5.3 Interest received on the Margin Account

Funds that are in an Investor's Margin Account will earn interest at the Margin Interest Rate. This interest will be capitalised to the Margin Account at the end of each month or upon closure of the Margin Account.

5.4 Closure of Margin Account

(a) Closure of the Margin Account by the Investor

The Investor may close the Margin Account by giving written notice in a form agreed upon between the parties.

In the event that the Investor wishes to terminate the Margin Account, the Investor must ensure that

- (i) all the Investor's CFDs have been Closed Out;
- (ii) there are no funds in the Investor's Margin Account; and
- (iii) the Investor has paid in full all amounts due to Nedbank Capital under these Terms and Conditions;

(b) Closure of Margin Account by Nedbank Capital

Nedbank Capital may,

- (i) close the Investor's Margin Account;
- (ii) terminate the Investor's use of the Trading Application; and
- (iii) satisfy any obligation the Investor may have to Nedbank Capital out of funds in the Margin Account or funds available pursuant to Nedbank Capital's setoff rights;

either:

- (i) upon giving not less than 1 (one) Business Day's written notice to the Investor; or
- (ii) immediately, without prior notice to the Investor:
 - if an Early-termination Event occurs; or
 - if Nedbank Capital's interests need to be otherwise protected.
 - The Investor will be notified upon closure of the Margin Account.

(c) Settlement following closure of the Margin Account

- (i) If the Margin Account is closed under (a) or (b) above, Nedbank Capital's obligation to pay any surplus and the Investor's obligation to pay any shortfall will be satisfied in full by making the Mark-to-market Payments and by application of the unrefunded prepayments of those amounts, so that no additional payment needs to be made by Nedbank Capital or the Investor on account of the said surplus or shortfall.

"The Investor acknowledges that it has read and appreciated the importance of the terms and clauses in bold font." Initial here:

- (ii) Without prejudice to any other rights or remedies to which a party may be entitled in law, upon closure of the Margin Account, any amounts due and payable in accordance with these Terms and Conditions by one party to another up to and including the date of the closure of the Margin Account, must be paid in accordance with these Terms and Conditions.

5.5 Set-off and Netting

- (a) Nedbank Capital may (in addition to any general or banker's lien, right of set-off, right to combine accounts or any other right to which it may be entitled), without notice to the Investor or any other person, set off any obligation of the Investor to make payment to Nedbank Capital under these Terms and Conditions against Nedbank Capital's liability to the Investor in respect of any credit balance (or any part thereof in such amounts as Nedbank Capital may elect) in the Margin Account.
- (b) Upon the liquidation or sequestration (whichever may be applicable) of either Nedbank Capital or an Investor:–
 - (i) all unperformed obligations of these parties in terms of any transactions executed in accordance with these Terms and Conditions –
 - aa. shall terminate; and
 - bb. shall become due immediately; and
 - (ii) the values of the unperformed obligations shall be determined; and
 - (iii) these values shall be netted, so that only a net amount (in Rand) is payable to or by a party, and the value of any assets (if applicable) which have been transferred as Margin for obligations under any of the transactions executed in accordance with these Terms and Conditions shall be included in the calculation of the net amount payable upon such liquidation or sequestrations (whichever may be applicable).
